

Internal Medical and Sales Training

Six Degrees Medical

Communicate.
Consult.
Train.

Six Degrees Medical is a leader in global medical communications.

For over a decade, our medical communication services have helped clients optimize their brand, disease and corporate objectives.

Our proven methods engage and motivate adult learners, increasing participation and taking performance to a higher level

As experts in internal medical and sales training, we work with your team to identify training needs and learning gaps. We pursue topics of greatest interest and relevance to your audience to maximize participation and learning. Our team is experienced in working with medical affairs, sales, market access and other departments and provides dedicated training expertise to support and scale training for audiences of 10-3000. From project initiation to brainstorming to content development, we employ six proven processes to fully adapt to your needs and deliver measurable results.

Backed by our deep scientific expertise, our training program design and delivery, combined with our unique combination of learning tools, create effective and engaging learning experiences.

We succeed in engaging your medical and sales audiences across a variety of learning platforms. Our team has years of experience executing hands-on live training, delivering home-based learning programs and providing strategic guidance on blended learning approaches. Ultimately our goal is to help ensure our clients fully achieve their training objectives with a return on investment.

Our list of services includes:

- Curriculum design and learning strategy
- Live medical and product training
- Home study
- Sales training and workshops
- Train-the-trainer workshops and facilitator support
- Competency based framework development
- Training support tools and boosters

ABOUT US

Our expertise has been sought after in 34 countries around the world in over 40 therapeutic areas. We come from 12 industries, 11 cultural backgrounds and speak 20 languages. Based in North America and Europe, we bring local perspective and international expertise to every project. Our clients see us as more than just vendors, but as partners invested in their success!

We create learning.

CONTACT

+1 647 725 0073
info@sixdegreesmed.com
www.sixdegreesmed.com

 @SDMCanada

 linkedin.com
/six-degrees-medical-consulting