

Medical Education

Six Degrees Medical

Communicate.
Consult.
Train.

Six Degrees Medical is a leader in global medical communications.

For over a decade, our medical communication services have helped clients optimize their brand, disease and corporate objectives. Building client relationships that last, our team brings intuitive strategy, tactical innovation and executional excellence to every project.

With our solid background in medical communications, instructional design and content development, we bring educational programs to life.

We have strong relationships with accrediting bodies as well as subject matter experts, and our engaging medical content and innovative programs create the perfect catalysts for learning. We have global experience collaborating with industry and advocacy organizations, driving initiatives from conception to completion to assessment.

Our programs are custom designed for individual or group learning and for small or large audiences.

They include symposia, conferences, speaker tours and more, and we have proven experience across a variety of therapy areas, from endocrinology and metabolism to neurology.

Our list of services includes:

- Small to large symposia
- Conference support and ambassador programs
- Program accreditation
- Standalone scientific events
- Speaker tours
- Speaker training: including meetings, self-directed and on-demand learning
- Strategic consultation
- Needs assessment and survey development/analysis
- Program outcomes assessment

“The Six Degrees Medical team has the creativity, experience, industry knowledge and professional attitude that I need for flawless execution of world-class projects, meetings and events. I can always trust them to deliver, even when I give them impossible deadlines and truly complex, content-heavy projects.”

ABOUT US

Our expertise has been sought after in 34 countries around the world in over 40 therapeutic areas. We come from 12 industries, 11 cultural backgrounds and speak 20 languages. Based in North America and Europe, we bring local perspective and international expertise to every project. Our clients see us as more than just vendors, but as partners invested in their success!

We create learning.

CONTACT

+1 647 725 0073
info@sixdegreesmed.com
www.sixdegreesmed.com

 @SDMCanada

 linkedin.com
/six-degrees-medical-consulting